AVERS INEFFICIENCY IN POSTAL SERVICE

hairman Moon Argues for Civil Service Tenure of Office

That approximately one-fifth of the ployes of the Postoffice Department inefficient was asserted in the ouse by Chairman Moon, of the Posi-fice Committee, during debates late sterday on his bill putting assistant stmasters under the civil service 4 providing for a readjustment in lway mall pay.

ongressman Moon touched the variance features of the proposed legislaten and finally referred to his belief at all employes of the Government, fuding justices of the highest court. rluding justices of the highest court, ould have a definite tenure of office. Take a life-tenure office and what the effect?" asked Mr. Moon. "An numbent may give fifteen years of onest, faithful service to his Government. At the end of that time he is inable of faithful service. Look at the ostoffice Department today, and one of the processing of the serventh of are proposing to perform, and held on as a matter of charity, until at last forced to be drop-ed off the list in order that the work my be done at all. And you call that wil service. It is inefficient service, nd nothing else.

"An honest civil service would not over fifteen or twenty years. Look the effect of it. If you are to conque these people in these positions, you are to take their service all of er lives nearly, unfitted as they will at the end of it for the performance any other duty, common honesty unid compel you to have a civil servpension list, and you have not a tht to so legislate. You have not a tht, through your Excutive or in any er way, to so decree as to place that

The bass fishermen seem to have bandoned their efforts in the vicinity of the Capital and have hied themselves away to more promising waters on their summer vacalions.

There are many points within easy striking distance of Washington where the bass may be found. Harpers Ferry, weaverton, Point of Rocks, all along the Baltimore and Ohio on the Potomac within a short distance of the city, roomise good sport and are well worth the time expended upon the trip. It unnecessary to take bait to Wesverton or Harpers Ferry, but if Point of tocks be chosen as the objective, it reing the closest to Washington, it is real to take bait along. Measure Provides Civil Commissioners Need Not Be Three-this city.

The Caraway bill, introduced about a month ago when the Newman controversy was being aired in the courts, waives the three-year residence qualification and would permit the President to go anywhere to obtain a civil Com-missioner for the District.

The passage of the bill would enable the President to reappoint Mr. New-man, even if he should be finally ousted by the courts.

man, even it he should be finally ousted by the courts.

"It is neither wise nor patriotic to limit the choice of Commissioners of the District to people residing within its bounds." says the Caraway report, "for it frequently happens that one is not able to view dispassionately and in a broad and statesmanlike manner issues that are purely local. The fight now being waged by certain interests. now being waged by certain interests ngainst one of the present Commission-ers because he advocated a fair read-justment ocf the proportional tax to be borne by the Federal Government is be borne by the Federal Government is sufficient evidence of this statement, and makes imperative the demand that this condition be remedied."

Mr. Caraway also reported his bill to apportion jobs in the District govern-ment equally among the several States and to divide up jobs under the District government among applicants from all
